

Laboratory Technician 1

Title: Lab Tech 1
Duration: January 2005 – June 2005
Training Provider: Maryland Center for Arts and Technology (MCAT)
Learning Objective: This course provides incumbent workers with the skills to work as a Phlebotomist. After the training they will be eligible to take their certification exam.

The participants selected for this training were screened and interviewed by the Office of Community and Educational Projects in the fall of 2004. This office assisted Project REACH in this regard as this training was partially funded by the Step Program. The participants were interviewed by the Pathology department, and then received assessments through the project. The hospital's pathology department has laboratories located throughout the Health System, and employees applied for the position (including location and shifts) that were available. This process was managed centrally through the hospital's Pathology Department and Career Services.

###