

Legal issues aren't easy to handle on your own. If you or your household member could benefit from free, professional legal resources, put Johns Hopkins Employee Assistance Program to work for you. The program provides a range of legal assistance and support such as:

- Free 30-minute phone consultation with an attorney who is qualified to address issues such as contracts, divorce, custody, elder law, immigration, wills, landlord/tenant disputes, and more
- Referrals to attorneys who can manage your case should you need additional legal counsel
- Online legal forms and articles on popular legal topics
- Access to in-the-moment support—with referrals to short-term counseling—for professional guidance managing any stress, anxiety, or challenge you're facing

Wasn't that convenient?
