

JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY

Doctor of Medicine Program

State Authorization Disclosure Regarding Educational Prerequisites

Federal regulations require Johns Hopkins to disclose to students considering enrollment or enrolled in this program whether or not it meets educational prerequisites for licensure or certification by state.

Educational Prerequisites for Professional Licensure or Certification

This program satisfies the educational prerequisites for licensure or certification in all 50 states.

Students located in a state where their program does not meet that state's licensure or certification educational prerequisites may have difficulty finding a job in that occupation and/or repaying loans borrowed to complete the program.
